

Automatic Welding Machine Manufacturer for Cable Trays

AI Overview

Leading manufacturers of automatic cable tray welding machines include DAPU, Kehan, RKM Machinery, and Clifford, offering high-speed, fully automated solutions for wire mesh cable tray production.

Key Manufacturers and Features

- 1. DAPU DAPU specializes in cable tray wire mesh welding machines with advanced pneumatic welding technology. Their machines can weld two cable trays simultaneously and are equipped with high-quality components from Siemens, Schneider, and Panasonic. DAPU offers customized solutions based on wire diameter, mesh size, and production requirements. They provide full support including installation guidance, trial runs, and overseas engineer dispatch for setup and training, making them suitable for industrial plants, data centers, and power infrastructure projects.
- 2. Kehan Kehan manufactures high-speed wire mesh cable tray machines with servo motor-controlled cross wire spacing for precise and uninterrupted welding. Their machines use internationally recognized electrical components from Panasonic, SMC, Schneider, Delta, and Weinview. Kehan machines produce various types of cable trays, including cable ladders, cable bridges, and basket trays, using pneumatic and resistance welding technology. They emphasize low production cost, easy installation, and high strength.
- 3. RKM Machinery RKM offers cable tray mesh welding machines with European welding technology and foreign brand equipment. Their machines achieve welding speeds up to 120 times per minute and feature servo motors, planetary reducers, and automatic clamping devices for different wire diameters. The system includes pre-straightened and pre-cut cross wires, pneumatic welding electrodes, and PLC-controlled operations for stable, precise, and high-efficiency production.
- 4. Clifford (AWT) Clifford provides fully automatic cable tray welders capable of produc...
