

Canadian Outdoor Cable Tray Manufacturer

AI Overview

Leading Canadian manufacturers of outdoor cable trays include Superior Tray Systems, Unitray, Niedax CER, and ZipTray, all offering CSA-approved, high-quality solutions. Superior Tray Systems Inc. provides custom-designed, robust cable tray systems suitable for power, control, data, and telecom cables. Their products are CSA and UL certified, with options including one-piece channel sections for small cables and wire mesh trays for sensitive or fiber optic installations. They specialize in engineered power distribution systems and are recognized as industry leaders in Canada. Unitray is a leading manufacturer of aluminum cable trays in Canada, offering CSA-approved Class C, D, and E trays in standard lengths of 3m, 5m, and 6m. Their facility uses state-of-the-art CNC sheet metal equipment, ensuring fast production and high-quality standards. Unitray maintains ISO certifications and complies with health, safety, and environmental regulations, making them a reliable choice for outdoor and industrial installations. Niedax CER, part of the Niedax Group, has over 30 years of experience in the Canadian market. They provide a wide range of cable management systems, including cable ladders, trays, basket trays, and channel trays. Their products are CSA-approved and designed for infrastructure, IT, building, and energy applications. Niedax CER emphasizes custom solutions, innovation, and customer collaboration, making them suitable for complex outdoor installations. ZipTray offers a lightweight, fast-installation cable tray system that requires no drilling, simplifying outdoor and industrial installations. Their trays are designed for speed and ease of installation while maintaining strength and reliability, making them a practical alternative to traditional B-Line or Thomas & Betts systems.
