

Do I need to return the broadband cable when I cancel my broadband connection

Overview

To avoid a non-return fee, make sure you return all required equipment within 21 days of your service change or disconnect. Returns can be made to any Spectrum Store location. While most internet service providers' target="_self" will let you sign up for service online, many ISPs require you to call if you want to cancel. If you pick up the phone unprepared, you may find yourself talked. On cancellation of Broadband, do I have to return equipment?

My BT Broadband (Halo 3) ended to day; BT emailed me to outline to the consequences and included the quote: If you joined BT after 13 December 2019, please send back your BT kit within 60 days of your BT service ending, otherwise you'll. If you're cancelling or changing your Sky Q or Sky Broadband services, you might need to return equipment owned by us. Return these items with their power supply. But first, shop for a new internet service so you can get the best possible deal.
