

How much does an Irish galvanized cable tray support arm cost

AI Overview

The cost of a galvanized cable tray support arm in Ireland typically ranges from €10 to €40 per unit, depending on size, type, and supplier. Overview Galvanized cable tray support arms are used to securely mount cable trays in industrial, commercial, and domestic electrical installations. They are made from galvanized steel, providing durability, corrosion resistance, and the ability to support heavy cable loads. Common types include right-angle supports, wall supports, hanging supports, stair supports, and floor supports, each designed for specific installation scenarios. Price Factors Size and Width: Standard widths like 100mm or 150mm affect the price, with larger brackets generally costing more. Type of Support: Wall-mounted or hanging supports may be priced differently due to material and design complexity. Load Capacity: Supports designed for heavier cable loads or industrial applications are typically more expensive. Supplier and Brand: Prices vary between suppliers such as Wesco, GroupSumi, Electrical Wholesaler Ireland, and Dwyers Electrical. Purchasing Guidance Wesco.ie stocks 100mm galvanized cable tray brackets suitable for standard installations, offering express delivery nationwide. GroupSumi.ie provides a wide range of support types, including adjustable hanging supports and wall supports, allowing selection based on installation needs. Electrical Wholesaler Ireland and Dwyers.ie offer competitive pricing and fast delivery for various cable tray accessories. For precise pricing, it is recommended to contact suppliers directly or check their online catalogs, as costs can fluctuate based on quantity, specifications, and delivery options.
