

Laser Diode Service Provider

AI Overview

RPMC Lasers, Directed Light, TJS Lasers, Laserfab, Diode Laser Concepts, and ProPhotonix are leading providers of laser diode products, custom solutions, and repair services. Key Providers and Services

RPMC Lasers, Inc. – Based in O'Fallon, Missouri, RPMC is a major distributor of laser diodes, modules, and custom subsystems. They offer a wide range of diode technologies, including single emitters, arrays, fiber-coupled, and wavelength-stabilized diodes. RPMC supports industrial, medical, military, and research applications, providing tailored solutions from component selection to subsystem integration.

Directed Light Inc. – Offers comprehensive repair and preventative maintenance for industrial, scientific, and medical lasers. Services include fiber repair, pump chamber restoration, Nd:YAG, Alexandrite, Erbium, Holmium, and Ruby rod repairs, as well as system calibration, optical alignment, and component replacement. They provide on-site and in-house support across North America.

TJS Lasers – Provides repair and service programs for industrial, semiconductor, military, scientific, and medical lasers, including diode, fiber, and CO2 lasers. Their services cover laser module alignment, fiber polishing, pump chamber restoration, and software/hardware upgrades, with both in-house and on-site options.

Laserfab, Inc. – Located in Moses Lake, WA, and Redmond, WA, Laserfab offers laser cutting, machining, fabrication, and finishing services. While primarily a manufacturing service provider, they support local and large-scale projects, making them a convenient option for regional laser-related services.

Diode Laser Concepts (DLC) – Specializes in custom laser diode assemblies and turnkey systems. DLC provides end-to-end solutions, including optical, mechanical, electrical, and software integration, rapid prototyping, and scalable manufacturing for industrial, life science, aerospace, and military applications.

ProPhotonix – Offers a broad range of laser diodes and modules, including blue, red, green, and near-infrared...
