

Manufacturer of AC cooling aisle low-noise display cabinets

AI Overview

Leading manufacturers of low-noise AC cooling aisle display cabinets include EDP Europe, Eaton, EAE Electric, Cool Shield, and Vertiv, all offering modular hot and cold aisle containment solutions. Key Manufacturers and Solutions EDP Europe designs and manufactures bespoke hot and cold aisle containment systems that optimize airflow and cooling efficiency in data centers. Their solutions feature low-profile sliding doors, modular designs, and compatibility with varying rack heights, ensuring minimal noise and energy-efficient operation. EDP provides both floor-standing and ceiling-suspended systems, tailored for retrofit or new-build projects, with global installation support. Eaton (Tripp Lite) offers modular aisle containment kits with sliding double doors, clear acrylic panels for visibility, and adjustable beams to fit standard and wide rack cabinets. These systems improve cooling efficiency, reduce energy costs, and are designed for easy installation without specialized HVAC contractors. EAE Electric (KabinPLUS) provides cold aisle containment with single or double sliding doors and sliding roof frame units made from aluminum and polycarbonate. Their systems are adjustable for different cabinet heights and widths, include seismic stands for stability, and ensure flexible airflow separation to maintain low-noise operation. Cool Shield™ (under Worthington Armstrong Venture) delivers turnkey aisle containment solutions for both new and existing data centers. Their modular systems separate cold supply air from hot exhaust air, enhancing cooling efficiency and maintaining consistent intake temperatures. Cool Shield products are widely used in critical facilities for low-noise, energy-efficient operation. Vertiv offers adaptable hot and cold aisle containment systems that are rack-independent and compatible with various cabinet heights. Their solutions can be deployed before or...
