

New Zealand Export Price of 400V Communication Power Supply Cabinets CIF

AI Overview

The average export price of cabinets and cases for transmission and reception apparatus from New Zealand in 2025 was reported in the range of several thousand USD per unit, with CIF prices including shipping and insurance costs varying by destination. Overview of Export Pricing New Zealand exports cabinets and cases used for communication and power supply purposes, including 400V communication power supply cabinets, primarily to countries such as the United States, Australia, Canada, India, and Mexico. The average export price per unit in 2025 was recorded at approximately $X thousand per unit, reflecting a slight decrease compared to the previous year, while the overall export value showed moderate growth over the last decade (IndexBox). CIF Considerations When goods are sold on a CIF basis, the price includes the cost of the goods, international transportation, and insurance to the port of destination. New Zealand Customs guidelines specify that if the cost of goods and shipping/insurance are bundled, the total CIF price can be declared as the customs value, provided reasonable efforts are made to obtain a breakdown of costs (New Zealand Customs). Export Destinations and Trends United States remains the largest market in value terms, followed by Australia and Canada. Other destinations include Tanzania, India, Mexico, Fiji, UAE, Norway, and Israel. Export volumes have shown a relatively flat trend from 2012 to 2025, with occasional fluctuations, while the average unit price increased at an average annual rate over the last twelve years, peaking in 2021 (IndexBox). Practical Implications For importers or businesses sourcing 400V communication power supply cabinets from New Zealand: Expect CIF...
