

New Zealand Switch Industry Brands

AI Overview

Key switchboard and switchgear brands in New Zealand include Bremca, TLJ Switchgear, Core Switchboards, and Clive Wilson Switchboards, all offering custom electrical solutions and compliance with local standards.

Leading Switchboard Manufacturers

Bremca Bremca is the largest New Zealand-owned switchboard manufacturer, operating since 1972. They specialize in switchboards, switchgear, and automation solutions for various industries, offering end-to-end services from design and engineering to installation and after-sales support. Bremca emphasizes innovation, quality, and staff expertise, providing extended warranty solutions and a one-stop supplier experience.

TLJ Switchgear Based in Christchurch, TLJ Switchgear has been active since 1994, delivering custom-built switchgear and panels for industrial and infrastructure projects. They maintain ISO 9001 and ISO 45001 certifications, ensuring high standards in quality and occupational health and safety. TLJ focuses on system integration, design, and commissioning, serving both local and international clients.

Core Switchboards Core Switchboards offers custom electrical panels and control boards for commercial, industrial, and infrastructure applications. With over 80 years of combined team experience, they provide tailored solutions that comply with New Zealand standards, emphasizing safe, efficient, and reliable power distribution. Their services include design consultation, engineering, and full installation support.

Clive Wilson Switchboards Clive Wilson Switchboards manufactures and upgrades LV switchboards and Motor Control Centres to full AS/NZS 61439 compliance. They work with platforms like Schneider Prisma, Simotrol, Quantum, and Logstrup, offering ISO 9001-certified quality management and factory acceptance testing. Their Invercargill-based facility ensures national reach with local service, handling complex projects from design to commissioning.
