

OPGW fiber optic cable pre-twisted tension clamp price

AI Overview

Pre-twisted OPGW tension clamps are available from multiple manufacturers, with prices varying based on material, size, and order quantity, typically quoted upon request.

Product Overview Pre-twisted OPGW (Optical Ground Wire) tension clamps are designed to secure OPGW cables to poles or towers while protecting the fiber optic strands from damage during installation. They feature a pre-twisted wire design, often with sand-coated inner surfaces to enhance grip, and are available in single-layer or two-layer configurations for different tension requirements (Fibconet) . Materials commonly include aluminum-clad steel or galvanized steel, providing durability and long-term performance .

Key Features

- Fiber-friendly design: Reduces risk of fiber damage during installation .
- Adjustable and versatile: Can accommodate various cable diameters and installation conditions .
- Backup and primary tension options: Can serve as a backup clamp in critical spans or as a primary tension clamp .
- Protective armor rods: Cushion the cable and prevent undue stress, extending cable lifespan .
- Compliance and warranty: Many suppliers offer ISO 9001 certification and warranties up to 10 years .

Pricing Considerations

- Material type: Aluminum-clad steel vs. galvanized steel affects cost .
- Clamp size and design: Single-layer vs. two-layer, inclusion of grounding wires, and sand type (conductive or non-conductive) influence price .
- Order quantity: Bulk orders typically reduce per-unit cost .
- Customization: OEM branding, specific cable diameter adjustments, and special fittings may increase price .
- Shipping and delivery: Costs vary by location and supplier .

Supplier Examples

- Fibconet: Offers pre-twisted clamps with adjustable designs and long-term warranties .
- Sun Telecom: Provides tension clamps with aluminum-clad steel wires and optional galvanized steel .
- Feiboer Fiber Optic Cable: Factory-direct pricing with...
