

Price of Custom-Made Secondary Distribution Boxes in Suriname

AI Overview

Exact prices for custom-made secondary distribution boxes in Suriname are not publicly listed, but costs depend on size, material, customization, and supplier. Factors Affecting Price The cost of custom-made secondary distribution boxes typically depends on several factors:

- Material: Boxes can be made from steel, aluminum, or durable plastics. Metal boxes are generally more expensive than plastic ones.
- Size and Capacity: Larger boxes with more compartments or higher amperage ratings cost more.
- Customization: Features such as weatherproofing, lockable doors, internal mounting panels, and branding increase the price.
- Compliance and Standards: Boxes meeting international electrical safety standards (e.g., IEC or NEN) may carry higher costs.
- Quantity: Bulk orders often reduce the per-unit price, while single custom units are more expensive.

Local Suppliers and Options While the web results list packaging and plastic manufacturers in Suriname, such as Surinam Plastics Manufacturing N.V. and SURPLACO, these companies primarily focus on flexible packaging, plastic products, and printing. For electrical distribution boxes, potential approaches include:

- Contacting local electrical suppliers or industrial hardware distributors in Paramaribo for custom fabrication.
- Requesting quotes from regional manufacturers in the Caribbean or South America who can ship to Suriname.
- Engaging local metal fabrication shops that can produce boxes to specification, including powder coating or weatherproofing.

Recommended Steps

- Define specifications: Determine size, material, and features required for your secondary distribution boxes.
- Request multiple quotes: Contact at least 3–5 local or regional suppliers to compare pricing.
- Check compliance: Ensure the boxes meet local electrical safety regulations.
- Consider lead time: Custom fabrication may take sever...
