

Price of Philippine fiber optic cable rewinding machine

AI Overview

Fiber optic cable handling machines in the Philippines, including rewinding and splicing equipment, typically range from ₱50,000 to over ₱100,000 depending on features and automation. Pricing Overview Fully Automatic Fiber Fusion Splicer Machines are available for around ₱57,500 for a complete set, including cleaver, stripper, and accessories, with warranty and delivery options in Metro Manila. Fiber blowing and cable handling machines for cables ranging from 2.5mm to 16mm are sold as semi-automatic units, with prices varying based on capacity, motorization, and included accessories. Online marketplaces like Lazada and Shopee offer a variety of fiber optic machines, including fusion splicers and cable handling tools, often with discounts, free shipping, and promotional vouchers, making it possible to find machines in the ₱50,000–₱100,000 range. Factors Affecting Price Automation Level: Fully automatic machines cost more than semi-automatic or manual models. Cable Diameter Range: Machines that handle a wider range of cable sizes are generally more expensive. Included Accessories: Packages with cleavers, strippers, and protective cases increase the total cost. Warranty and Support: Authorized dealers offering warranties and replacement services may charge higher prices. Delivery and Location: Metro Manila delivery is often included, but provincial shipping may add to the cost. Recommendations For industrial or large-scale projects, consider fully automatic machines with multi-motor systems for efficiency and precision. For smaller operations or budget-conscious buyers, semi-automatic or basic rewinding machines may suffice. Check Carousell, Lazada, Shopee, and local suppliers for current promotions and bulk order discounts. By comparing features, warranty, and supplier reliability, you can select a fiber optic cable rewinding machine that fits both your t...
